Thilo Hanemann

Partner, Rhodium Group

Thilo Hanemann is a partner at the Rhodium Group and leads the firm's work on global trade and investment. Rhodium Group is an economic research firm that combines policy experience, quantitative economic tools, and on-the-ground research to analyze disruptive global trends. Mr. Hanemann supports the investment management, strategic planning, and policy analysis requirements of Rhodium clients within his fields of expertise. He is also a Senior Policy Fellow at the Mercator Institute for China Studies, Europe's biggest China think tank, located in Berlin.

Mr. Hanemann's research focuses on new trends in global trade and capital flows, related policy developments, and the political and commercial dynamics of specific transactions. One of his areas of expertise is the rise of emerging economies as global investors, and the implications for host economies and the global economy. His most recent work focuses on the evolution of China's international investment position, and the economic and policy implications of this new trend.

Mr. Hanemann has published numerous studies and articles on international trade and investment, among them two major reports on Chinese investment in the US, An American Open Door? Maximizing the Benefits of Chinese FDI in the United States (2011) and Europe --- China Invests in Europe: Patterns, Impacts and Policy Implications (2012). Other recent publications include Chinese FDI in Europe and Germany: Preparing for a New Era of Chinese Capital (2015) with MERI CS; New Neighbors: Chinese Investment in the US by Congressional District (2015) with the National Committee on US-China Relations; High-Tech: The Next Wave of Chinese Investment in America (2014) with the Asia Society; Chinese Direct Investment in California (2012) with the Asia Society, Chinese FDI in the US and Europe: Implications and Opportunities for Transatlantic Cooperation (2011) with the German Marshall Fund, and China's Changing Outward FDI Profile: Drivers and Policy Implications (2009), published by the Peterson Institute for International Economics in Washington, DC.

Mr. Hanemann is a frequent speaker and commentator on trends in global capital flows and China's global investment. His research has been featured in the Financial Times, the Wall Street Journal, the New York Times, The Economist, Caixin Magazine, and other national and international media. He regularly supports policymakers with assessing the implications of Chinese outbound investment and formulating adequate policy responses.

Before joining Rhodium, Mr. Hanemann worked in academia and the public sector in Europe, China, and the United States. He was educated at Free University Berlin, Nanjing University, and Columbia University in New York. He held scholarships from the German National Academic Foundation, the Krupp Foundation, and the German-American Fulbright Commission.
